Medici Round Dining Table

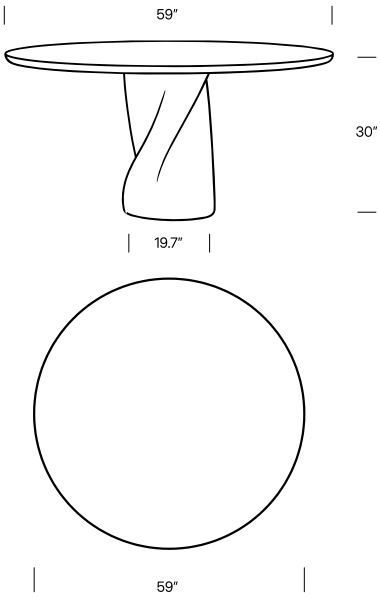

The Medici Dining Table is cut entirely from Rosso Levanto. Sharp white and grey veins branch across a deep burgundy field on a round top that thins toward its rim, so a slab this heavy still reads light from across the room. Beneath it, a single column of the same marble twists as it rises — wide at the foot, wide at the shoulder, with a swept fold running down one side where the carving turns. Top meets base with no bracket and no visible hardware, and the central pedestal leaves the full circle clear for chairs. One stone, one colour, one continuous form from the floor up.

MATERIALS:

Top:	Solid Rosso Levanto marble, polished finish
Edge:	Tapered profile with a soft chamfer, hand-shaped and polished
Pedestal:	Solid Rosso Levanto marble, carved and polished as a single twisting column
Assembly Fixings:	Concealed stone-to-stone seating, no visible hardware
Sealant:	Penetrating stone sealer applied to all surfaces

FEATURES:

Rosso Levanto Top:	Sharp white and grey veins branch across a deep burgundy field, drawn from the stone itself — the pattern is unique to every table
Tapered Edge Profile:	The round top thins toward the rim with a soft chamfer, so a heavy slab reads light from across the room, with the veining wrapping from the face around the edge
Twisting Sculptural Pedestal:	A single column carved from the same marble, wide at the top and bottom with a spiralling fold swept down one side — structure treated as sculpture
Seamless Stone-on-Stone:	Top meets pedestal with no bracket, plate or visible hardware, reading as one continuous piece from the floor up
Central Pedestal Clearance:	A single base leaves the perimeter completely clear, so chairs pull in anywhere around the circle
Maintenance:	Wipe with a soft damp cloth and a pH-neutral stone cleaner; blot spills promptly and reseal periodically. Avoid acidic cleaners, vinegar and citrus
Assembly:	Two-part assembly — pedestal positioned first, top set in place. Professional installation recommended
