George Armchair

A square in plan and a cube in the room: 31.5 inches each way, with arms that run the same depth front to back and stop at a flat face — no taper, no roll, no scroll. Seat and back are loose cushions rather than built in, each divided into quarters by a single cross of stitching, the black leather swelling gently between the lines and showing its grain throughout. The back cushion sits above the arm line with a clear gap behind it, so it lifts out to be turned or plumped. Underneath, a polished chrome tube turns each corner in one continuous bend and drops into a short round leg, lifting the whole body clear of the floor — the heaviest element resting on the lightest possible line.

MATERIALS:

Internal Frame:	Kiln-dried timber with steel reinforcement, fully concealed within the upholstery
Padding:	High-resilience polyurethane foam with a polyester fibre wrap
Seat Cushion:	Loose cushion, foam core, panelled by a cross of seams
Back Cushion:	Loose cushion, foam core, panelled by a cross of seams
Cover:	Black leather with a visible natural grain, single-needle stitched
Base:	Polished chrome tubular frame running as a rectangle around all four sides
Legs:	Short round polished chrome, with protective floor glides

FEATURES:

Flat Arm, Square End:	The arm runs the same depth from front to back and stops at a flat face — no taper, no roll, no scroll, one straight horizontal from the front corner to the back frame
Lifted on Chrome:	A polished tube turns each corner in one continuous bend and drops into a short round leg, so the body sits clear of the floor on four points and the heaviest element rests on the lightest line
Back Cushion Stands Proud:	The back cushion sits above the arm line rather than between the arms, with a clear gap behind it, and lifts out to be turned or plumped
Panelled by Seams:	A single cross of stitching divides the seat into four quarters and repeats on the back, with the leather swelling gently between each line
Square in Plan:	31.5 inches wide by 31.5 inches deep — a true square footprint, which is why the chair reads as a cube and sits predictably in a layout
Loose Cushions:	Seat and back are separate cushions rather than built in, so both can be turned, plumped or replaced
Maintenance:	Wipe leather with a soft dry cloth and condition periodically; polish the chrome with a dry microfibre cloth and keep out of prolonged direct sunlight
Assembly:	Minimal assembly — chrome base and legs bolt to the underside of the body, cushions supplied loose
